Midwifery Preparation for Practice Sally Pairman, Sally K. Tracy, Hannah Dahlen, Lesley Dixon, 2022-10-15 Now in its 5th edition Midwifery Preparation for Practice continues to present a global model of midwifery best practice that is supported by a range of examples from the Australian, New Zealand and international midwifery contexts. Endorsed by the Australian College of Midwives and the New Zealand College of Midwives the text continues to reinforce the established principles of midwifery philosophy and practice – that of midwives working in partnership with women, in woman-centred models or midwife-led care. This focus is what sets this text apart from other physiology-based midwifery texts, making it a highly valued resource for students and practicing midwives alike. The highly esteemed team of editors once again lead a group of internationally recognised leaders in midwifery to share their knowledge and expertise in midwifery practice, education, research and regulation across Australia, New Zealand and internationally. - Aligned to local and international midwifery standards for practice and guidelines - Endorsed by the Australian College of Midwives and the New Zealand College of Midwives - Presented in 2 volumes for ease of use - Videos to support learning - New chapters - Sustainability and Environmental Health Care - Ethical Frameworks for Practice - Updated midwifery guidelines and practice examples throughout

Birth Outside the System Hannah Dahlen, Bashi Kumar-Hazard, Virginia Schmied, 2020-01-17 This book investigates why women choose 'birth outside the system' and makes connections between women's right to choose where they birth and violations of human rights within maternity care systems. Choosing to birth at home can force women out of mainstream maternity care, despite research supporting the safety of this option for low-risk women attended by midwives. When homebirth is not supported as a birthplace option, women will defy mainstream medical advice, and if a midwife is not available, choose either an unregulated care provider or birth without assistance. This book examines the circumstances and drivers behind why women nevertheless choose homebirth by bringing legal and ethical perspectives together with the latest research on high-risk homebirth (breech and twin births), freebirth, birth with unregulated care providers and the oppression of midwives who support unorthodox choices. Stories from women who have pursued alternatives in Australia, Europe, Russia, the UK, the US, Canada, the Middle East and India are woven through the research. Insight and practical strategies are shared by doctors, midwives, lawyers, anthropologists, sociologists and psychologists on how to manage the tension between professional obligations and women's right to bodily autonomy. This book, the first of its kind, is an important contribution to considerations of place of birth and human rights in childbirth.

Pharmacology for Health Professionals Kathleen Knights, Andrew Rowland, Shaunagh Darroch, Mary Bushell, 2022-12-15 If you are worried that studying pharmacology will be difficult to apply to clinical practice, Pharmacology for Health Professionals is the book for you. Written by experienced health professional educators, this textbook brings the study of drugs and medicines to life. This title is considered the most authoritative text in Australia and New Zealand for nursing and allied health students, but it is also highly accessible. The use of easily flowing material, integration with physiology and pathophysiology, and focus on clinically relevant information clearly show how pharmacology concepts can be applied in practice. Fully updated in its sixth edition, the book will help students master this complex and constantly changing area of their studies and is suitable for use in many undergraduate health professional courses including nursing, paramedicine, pharmacy, podiatry, optometry, midwifery, speech pathology and general biomedical/health science programs. - Focus on clinical application of pharmacology through review exercises, clinical focus boxes and prescribing considerations - Critical thinking scenarios in each chapter reinforce pharmacological concepts and clinical application - Humanoid models illustrate pharmacological or adverse effects of drugs - Contextualised for Australian and New Zealand students - Includes life span/gender/cultural considerations where relevant - Comprehensive Drugs at a Glance table in each chapter Mental Health Nursing Gylo (Julie) Hercelinskyj, Louise Alexander, 2019-07-30 Mental Health Nursing: Applying Theory to Practice is a new Australian text combining a theoretical approach to mental health nursing with clinical reasoning and a practical framework for real-life nursing situations. Ideal for both clinical and theory mental health course units, the text was developed with input from consumers and clinicians, and includes the clinical manifestations, impacts, treatment and management of persons suffering from mental illness. Chapters on suicide and self-harm, and Mental Health First Aid provide detailed coverage of these contemporary mental health issues, while a chapter on mental state examination (MSE) comprehensively explores MSE in a style similar to a traditional psychiatry text and in the context of many different mental health conditions, giving students multiple perspectives of presentations. Critical thinking and review questions challenge students to apply theory to practice, and pharmacology is discussed in each disorder-chapter, helping students to contextualise their learning. With coverage of the Mental Health Act (2014), and criteria from the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, Fifth Edition (DSM-5) integrated throughout, the text equips students with a working understanding of major mental health disorders, and the ability to work practically when engaging with persons suffering from mental illness. New, print versions of this book come with bonus online study tools on the CourseMate Express and Search Me! Nursing platforms.

Nursing in Australia Nathan J. Wilson, Peter Lewis, Leanne Hunt, Lisa Whitehead, 2020-11-24 Graduate nurses are expected to 'hit the ground running', taking on complex care challenges in a stressful and fast-paced environment. This comprehensive yet accessible textbook provides expert guidance for students and commencing nurses on the contexts for their practice. Part 1 presents a pragmatic insight into the intersection, tensions and complexities of practice and professional issues for Australian nurses. It outlines the nature of nursing roles and professional codes of conduct, national health priority areas and legal and ethical issues including the growing use of health informatics. There is an examination of the diverse career paths available in nursing, a focus on nurses' mental health and well-being and a special examination of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health issues. Part 2 unpacks key issues across a range of clinical contexts that will be a key resource for clinical practicums. Contexts covered include acute care, community nursing, paediatric nursing, mental health nursing and aged care. Part 3 examines the professional and practice issues of nursing in diverse, distinctive and emergent practice areas including aesthetic nursing, military nursing and international nursing with case studies and vignettes highlighting common issues and challenges. Drawing on the expertise of a wide range of Australian clinical and academic nursing professionals, this text is a key reference for all nursing undergraduates seeking to enter successfully into the profession.

Mental Health Nursing Enhanced Edition 1e Gylo (Julie) Hercelinskyj, Louise Alexander PhD, 2021-11-01 Mental Health Nursing is an Australian text combining a theoretical approach to mental health nursing with clinical reasoning and a practical framework for real-life nursing situations. Ideal for both clinical and theory mental health units, the text was developed with input from consumers and clinicians, and includes the clinical manifestations, impacts, treatment and management of persons suffering from mental illness. Chapters on 'Suicide and non-suicidal self-injury' and 'Mental health first aid' provide detailed coverage of these contemporary mental health issues, while a chapter on Mental State Examination (MSE) comprehensively explores MSE in a style similar to a traditional psychiatry text and in the context of many different mental health conditions, giving students multiple perspectives of presentations. Critical thinking and review questions challenge students to apply theory to practice, and pharmacology is discussed in each disorder-chapter, helping students to contextualise their learning. With coverage of the Mental Health Act (2014), and criteria from the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, Fifth Edition (DSM-5) integrated throughout, the text equips students with a working understanding of major mental health disorders, and the ability to work practically when engaging with persons suffering from mental illness. This enhanced edition now also includes discussion around mental health as it pertains to the effects that COVID-19 and the global pandemic have had on consumers and practitioners. Resources for the instructor include updated Instructor's Manual, PowerPoints and Test Bank.

Bachelor of Midwifery (BM) Students' Experiences of Reflective Practice Catherine Lara Wright,2014 This study was initiated to explore if and how BM students understand and participate in reflection, along with factors that may act as barriers to and enablers of this process. The aim of this grounded theory study was to explore 2nd year ACU Bachelor of Midwifery (Melbourne) students' experience of reflective practice. Eight students agreed to participate in semi-structured interviews; analysis of the data identified that the students' first impressions of reflective practice and subsequent ongoing support to participate in reflective activities had a significant impact on when and how they undertook reflective practice. The study identified the core category of becoming a reflective midwife, which incorporated the major categories of 'learning', 'practising', 'valuing' and 'adapting'. Overall, the study concluded that contrary to anecdotal reports that reflective practice was a tiresome chore or a burden; all midwifery student participants appreciated the value of reflective practice, undertook reflective practice activities in one way or another, and voiced their intentions to continue to become reflective practitioners. This insight prompts consideration of how reflective practice is taught at university and the timing of its introduction and ongoing inclusion throughout the course. Additionally, strategies to promote and facilitate ongoing reflective practice activities within the general population of midwifery students could be reviewed and implemented. (Abstract)
