Guidelines for Concrete Mixtures Containing Supplementary Cementitious Materials to Enhance Durability of Bridge Decks John S. Lawler, National Cooperative Highway Research Program, 2007 NCHRP Report 566 is designed to help facilitate the use of supplementary cementitious materials to enhance durability of concrete used in highway construction, especially bridge decks. The report includes a methodology for selecting optimum concrete mixture proportions that focuses on durability aspects of concrete and the performance requirements for specific environmental conditions. The methodology is presented in a text format and as a computational tool, in the form of a Visual Basic?driven Microsoft Excel spreadsheet. Background information and a hypothetical case study was published as NCHRP Web-Only Document 110: Supplementary Cementitious Materials to Enhance Durability of Concrete Bridge Decks. The Statistical Experimental Design for Optimizing Concrete (SEDOC), the computational tool for the concrete mixture optimization methodology, and the user?s guide are available in a ZIP format for download.

Static and Dynamic Performance Analysis of Structures and Materials Under Complex Loads and Environmental Excitation Ping Xiang, Abdelmoumen Anis Bousahla, Huaping Wang, Adesola Ademiloye, 2025-05-29 With the development of structural materials, more and more new materials and construction methods are applied to infrastructure construction in order to achieve carbon neutrality and emission peak. Nowadays, people have more and more strict requirements for the comfort, safety and resistance to environmental disasters of infrastructure. Therefore, the static and dynamic performance of new structures and materials under complex environment and load becomes more and more important in construction and design of infrastructure engineering. Modern civil engineering has been developing towards intelligence. Both construction technology and material technology are developing towards a more intelligent direction. How to take new means to make the structure have good mechanical performance, and can sense the external environment and load excitation, is a development direction of civil engineering. This Research Topic welcomes researches on the macro and micro mechanical performance analysis of materials, static and dynamic response analysis of structures in construction engineering, bridge engineering, railway engineering and geotechnical engineering. In addition, under the action of wind load and earthquake load, the large-scale vibration of structures will seriously endanger the safety. The safety and stability performances of infrastructures still represent a serious challenge to researchers, engineers, and constructors. This Research Topic is dedicated to the most recent advances in research into the mechanical performances of structures and materials and some related applications. We welcome scientists and investigators to contribute Original Research and Review articles, addressing the main issues facing the field. Potential topics include but are not limited to the following: • New theoretical, numerical, and experimental methods for vibration of structures. • Assessment of dynamic responses of infrastructures under static and dynamic loads. • Innovative design and mechanical performances of composite structures. • Intelligent structural health monitoring with optical fiber sensing technology. • Mechanical performances of structures and materials from micro to macro scales. • Mechanism of vehicle bridge coupling vibration. • Structural fatigue performance analysis under earthquakes. • Infrastructure innovations for durability and resilience with new structure system and materials. • Dynamic evolution of structural damage under extreme loads such as earthquake, typhoon and impact. • Structural health monitoring of large-scale infrastructures. • Numerical modelling and computational mechanical analysis of structures and infrastructures.

High Performance Fiber Reinforced Cement Composites 6 Gustavo J. Parra-Montesinos,Hans W.

Reinhardt,2012-01-28 High Performance Fiber Reinforced Cement Composites (HPFRCC) represent a class of cement composites whose stress-strain response in tension undergoes strain hardening behaviour accompanied by multiple cracking, leading to a high strain prior to failure. The primary objective of this International Workshop was to provide a compendium of up-to-date information on the most recent developments and research advances in the field of High Performance Fiber Reinforced Cement Composites. Approximately 65 contributions from leading world experts are assembled in these proceedings and provide an authoritative perspective on the subject. Special topics include fresh and hardening state properties; self-compacting mixtures; mechanical behavior under compressive, tensile, and shear loading; structural applications; impact, earthquake and fire resistance; durability issues; ultra-high performance fiber reinforced concrete; and textile reinforced concrete. Target readers: graduate students, researchers, fiber producers, design engineers, material scientists.
