Fashion Industry Riccardo Beltramo, Annalisa Romani, Paolo Cantore, 2020-02-05 Fashion is a lot more than providing an answer to primary needs. It is a way of communication, of distinction, of proclaiming a unique taste and expressing the belonging to a group. Sometimes to an exclusive group. Currently, the fashion industry is moving towards hyperspace, to a multidimensional world that is springing from the integration of smart textiles and wearable technologies. It is far beyond aesthetics. New properties of smart textiles let designers experiment with astonishing forms and expressions. There are also surprising contrasts and challenges: a new life for natural fibers, sustainable fabrics and dyeing techniques, rediscovered by eco-fashion, and artificial apparel, made of wearable electronic components. How is this revolution affecting the strategies of the fashion industry?

The Chinese Fashion Industry Jianhua Zhao, 2013-08-15 Less than three decades ago, when the Chinese bought cloth or clothes, they would have had to use a government-issued coupon. Today the Chinese fashion industry is one of the most dynamic in the world - it not only supplies fashions to the increasingly discerning domestic market, but also provides one-third of the clothing sold in the global market. How did this phenomenal transition come about? What can the growth of the Chinese fashion industry tell us about the post-Mao China? What roles do the local and the global play in the dramatic changes? This book offers a historically informed, ethnographically grounded and interpretive analysis of contemporary Chinese fashion and the fashion industry. It examines the interplay of state politics, market forces, local social and cultural factors, and the global political economy, both in the rise of the Chinese fashion industry and in the life and work of Chinese fashion professionals. As the first ethnographic account of the Chinese fashion industry in the post-Mao era, The Chinese Fashion Industry combines first-hand accounts with sophisticated cultural analysis to offer new insights, and will be of interest to students and scholars of fashion, anthropology and China.

Market Research and Analysis of Apparel Industry in Germany Divyanshu Singh, 2013 Recent studies show that the apparel industry is very volatile in nature. The marketing strategies and approaches to reach the consumers, which worked yesterday, might be completely different or as we call outdated as of today. Changing styles of apparels, known as fashion or trend has evolved over time and would continue to. This requires the apparel industry entrepreneurs to walk hand-in-hand with the trend to fulfil the demands of their fashionable customers. The taste for apparels or clothing of the customers depends on many factors, namely country, culture, environment, purpose as well as age groups. My focus of research and current study deals with apparel market in Germany. The findings and survey made in my study would be the basis for developing marketing strategies for apparels in the German market. This would be one of the building blocks for my further project of establishing an apparel business in Germany.
