

Super Duper Safety School

Amanda Lee

Super Duper Safety School Pattie Fitzgerald, 2013 Super Duper Safety School teaches children how to be the 'boss of their own body', how to watch out for 'tricky people' and how they can be safe around people they know or don't know. Also included is a comprehensive Parent Education Guide to help parents understand their role and how they can significantly minimize the risks to their child.--

Yes, Your Kid Debby Herbenick, PhD, 2023-11-14 Parents of teenagers and young adults have enormous catching up to do to understand how sexting, internet porn, TikTok, and more have shaped sex for young people. Too often, parents wear blinders when it comes to the sex lives of their children. They hear the statistics—how 80% of college students have engaged in rough sex or how one in four teens have sent or received a sext—and think, “Not my kid.” Yes, Your Kid is the reality check parents need about what sex is like today—so they can better educate and support their tweens, teens, and college students. Combining insights from cutting-edge research, conversations with real students, and on-the-ground legal experience, Yes, Your Kid provides: An overview of key topics in sexuality, from communication and consent to pornography and rough sex, describing how things have changed Real-world legal stories illustrating today’s consensual sex pitfalls and clear tips for how to help your child avoid them Age-appropriate tools to talk with tweens and teens about bodies, puberty, technology, birth control, and consent Concrete advice parents can share directly with their children so that—if and when their children become sexually active with partners—they are more likely to have safer, consensual sex Inclusive sexuality education tips for parents of young people on the autism spectrum Authoritative, supportive, sex-positive, and facts-forward, Yes, Your Kid provides parents with the frank, accurate information they and their children need to safely navigate today’s sexual landscape.

Bullying Must Go Dr. Delores Johnson Brown,2016-04-25 This is an autobiographical and a historical nonfiction piece of literature written by a twenty-eight year retired reading teacher who endured many trials and tribulations known today as bullying only because she wanted to attend the high school that was in close proximity of her home. Breaking the race barrier will raised the hairs on the back of your neck and bring tears to your eyes as you relive those abhorrent acts of hatefulness as described by the author. The audience range is from preteens through adults. The purpose is to eradicate bullying and implement acts of kindness in an effort to make this a better world to live. The historical aspect is based upon the fact that if we dont know our history, we are doomed to repeat it. There are letters, news articles, and photographs that will carry you back to the good old days which turn out to be the not so good at all days. The autobiographical aspect of this book will have you sitting on the edge of your seat. This could be a tell-all presentation if you have the where with all to read between the lines. See if you can find the double whammy that was thrust upon a seventeen year old known as one of the seventeen. Isnt it amazing that the main character is seventeen and also known as one of the famous seventeen? This piece might have you wondering if this is a spy novel? She does live a double life and will have you wondering who is 007 and why did she have to encompass all these electrifying episodes? You will find yourself in her shoes and figuring out how you would solve some of the problems as you travel through her life. This work of art will not solve this horrible act of humiliation , however it will make you get on the bandwagon of annihilating bullying. This book is unique because it is up to you take into consideration what this author did to help start the ball to roll over bullying and now it is up to keep it rolling until bullying is out of existence. We can do it! We can do it!

Teach Like an Ally Flint Del Sol,2025-07-21 Answers to all your burning questions and practical advice for helping LGBTQ+ students thrive In Teach Like an Ally: An Educator's Guide to Nurturing LGBTQ+ Students, veteran classroom teacher and celebrated transgender advocate Flint Del Sol weaves humor, storytelling, and expertise into a hands-on guide for educator-allies. Del Sol offers actionable strategies that you can implement in classrooms right away. He also tackles the complex questions teachers face: What should you do when a student asks for one name in the classroom, but another at home? Or when you're sure a student is trans, but they haven't said anything to you? How do you know your bathroom pass policy isn't hurting your most vulnerable students? What do you do when your values are at odds with school policy? Building a positive school climate doesn't have to be intimidating. In Teach Like an Ally, you'll learn how educators can support each other and how we can all give LGBTQ+ students the best possible chance to flourish. Get candid answers to difficult questions about LGBTQ+ students in the classroom Become a stronger ally by understanding what LGBTQ+ students go through in secondary school settings Learn the research-backed practices you can implement to make your classroom a safe space for all Support all students in developing compassion and understanding for one another This pragmatic book is for teachers, administrators, families, and anyone committed to the wellbeing of LGBTQ+ students in secondary classrooms.

Life and Loss Linda Goldman, 2013-11-20 Many clinicians recognize that denying or ignoring grief issues in children leaves them feeling alone and that acknowledging loss is crucial part of a child's healthy development. Really dealing with loss in productive ways, however, is sometimes easier said than done. For decades, Life and Loss has been the book clinicians have relied on for a full and nuanced presentation of the many issues with which grieving children grapple as well as an honest exploration of the interrelationship between unresolved grief, educational success, and responsible citizenry. The third edition of Life and Loss brings this exploration firmly into the twenty-first century and makes a convincing case that children's grief is no longer restricted only to loss-identified children. Children's grief is now endemic; it is global. Life and Loss is not just the book clinicians need to understand grief in the twenty-first century—it's the book they need to work with it in constructive ways.

Behavioral Intervention for Young Children with Autism Catherine Maurice, Gina Green, Stephen C. Luce, 1996 Chapters on choosing an effective treatment discuss how to evaluate claims about treatments for autism, and what the research says about early behavioral intervention and other treatments. Subsequent sections address what to teach, teaching programs, how to teach, and who should teach. Also addressed are the organization and funding of a behavioral program, working with a speech-language pathologist, and working with the schools. Answers to commonly asked questions are presented along with case histories. Annotation c. by Book News, Inc., Portland, Or.

The Anxiety Busting Workbook for Kids Debra Kissen, Meena Dugatkin, Grace Cusack, 2024-10-01 Children face a number of anxiety-inducing challenges every day—from school to extracurricular activities to making friends. The good news is that kids can also learn to turn their overly anxious thoughts into curiosity, determination, and bravery. Built on the solid foundations of cognitive behavioral therapy (CBT)—yet cleverly disguised as fun, kid-focused games and activities—this workbook is designed to help children ages 5 to 9 discover the not-so-scary world around them, and channel all that energy away from fear and worry—and toward courage and confidence.
