Secrets of Seduction Paulo Roberto de Sá Araújo, 2021-10-02 Recent surveys reveal that about 84% of men feel insecure in flirting situations: whether due to lack of courage, fear of judgment, feeling intimidated by the beauty of women, not knowing what to say or even because of an ingrained shyness. This is because these men do not understand the psychological aspects and mental triggers that are behind any human interaction. In my teens, I was very shy and embarrassed to talk to women who piqued my interest, until I discovered that seduction and conquest skills could be learned and I could really become a skilled seducer if I learned the right techniques. After studying human behavior a lot and even graduating from courses on influence and persuasion, I became an expert in communication and finally understood how some men conquer women so easily, as if they were true magnets and attracted them to themselves with very little effort. Thinking about helping other men to overcome these difficulties I wrote the book "Secrets of Seduction", where I teach all the powerful techniques of influence, persuasion, NLP and seduction that really changed my life. I literally reveal all the secrets you've never been told about relating to women. In it, I teach practical strategies from basic to advanced to overcome any mental block, gain self-confidence, interpret signals of interest and, just by looking, know exactly who are the women who are interested in you. I also approach the best communication techniques with an almost hypnotic power to create connections, which helped me not only in the seduction aspect but also in several areas of my life. I hope this book adds the same value to you as it did to me.

Embodied Communication in Humans and Machines Ipke Wachsmuth, Manuela Lenzen, Günther Knoblich, 2008-09-04 When people communicate face to face they don't just exchange verbal information. Rather, communication encompasses the whole body. Communication partners synchronize their body sway, and mimic or imitate each other's body postures and actions. They produce a multitude of manual and facial gestures that help to illustrate what is being said, show how communication partners feel, or or reveal verbal deception. Moreover, face-to-face communication takes place in shared contexts where partners jointly attend and refer to the same objects, often while working on joint tasks such as carrying a table or repairing a car together. Traditionally, communication research has neglected these parts of communication using the engineering model of signal transmission as the main theoretical metaphor. This book takes a new look at recent empirical findings in the cognitive and neurosciences, showing that the traditional approach is insufficient, and presenting a new interdisciplinary perspective, the Embodied Communication perspective. The core claim of the Embodied Communication perspective is that human communication involves parallel and highly interactive couplings between communication partners. These couplings range from low-level systems for performing and understanding instrumental actions, like the mirror system, to higher-systems that interpret symbols in a cultural context. The book can also serve as a guide for engineers who construct artificial agents and robots that should be able to interact with humans.
