A Mother's Love LENA A. ROBINSON,2025-05-13 A Mother's Love: Poems of Devotion and Strength by Lena A. Robinson is a soul-stirring collection that weaves together the heartbeats of mothers, daughters, and women everywhere who carry unseen burdens with unshakable grace. In these pages, Robinson captures the sacred, often unspoken realities of womanhood-resilience born in silence, strength forged through adversity, and love that transcends hardship and time. With lyrical honesty and emotional depth, the poems speak to those who have walked through invisible battles, endured systemic neglect, or simply labored in the shadows for the sake of their families. From the bittersweet legacy of The Help to the fierce self-recognition of I Am My Mother's Song, every verse invites readers into a sacred space where truth and tenderness coexist. This collection is a tribute-to mothers who sacrificed without applause, to daughters reclaiming their voices, and to every person who finds courage in their softness. How Mothers Love Naomi Stadlen,2011-09-01 Mothers describe falling in love with their babies and then, more slowly, learning to understand them. Children flourish when their mothers love and understand them. For over 20 years, Naomi Stadlen has listened to hundreds of mothers talking at her weekly discussion groups. In 'How Mothers Love' she offers unique insights into how mothers and babies learn to communicate intimately with one another. When adults relate to one another, they are building on the foundations usually laid down by their mothers. 'How Mothers Love' is a study of how mothers start to build those foundations and covers areas such as: how to create emotional 'space' for your unborn child; how to maintain a close relationship with two or more children; the transformation into motherhood and your role as a mother in wider society. By sharing the experiences of other mothers, Naomi Stadlen offers reassurance and support to all new parents as they navigate the highs and lows of the early years with their babies.

It could leave you with tears falling from your eyes or make you very angry. My mama was my heart and my soul. She taught me everything I know. I am the man I am because of her. She was my backbone. She was there for me through hard times and good times. What can I say? Words do not explain the things I feel about my mama. She stood by my side when no one else would. She was truly, truly a mother.

Whitman's Poetry of the Body M. Jimmie Killingsworth,2016-08-01 This book combines literary and historical analysis in a study of sexuality in Walt Whitman's work. Informed by his new historicist understanding of the construction of literary texts, Jimmie Killingsworth examines the progression of Whitman's poetry and prose by considering the textual history of Leaves of Grass and other works. Killingsworth demonstrates that Whitman's poetry of the body derives its radical power from the transformation of conventional attitudes toward sexuality, traditional poetics, and conservative politics. The sexual relation, with its promise of unity, love, equality, interpenetration, and productivity for partners, becomes a metaphor for all political and social relationships, including that of poet and reader. The effect of the poems is protopolitical, an altering of consciousness about the body's relation to other bodies, a shifting of the categories of knowledge that foretells political action. Killingsworth traces the interplay in Whitman's poetry between sexual and textual themes that derive from Whitman's political response to the historical turbulence of mid-century America. He describes a subtle shift in Whitman's prose writings on poetics, which turn from a view of poetry in the early 1850s as morally and politically efficacious to a chastened romanticism in the postwar years that frees the poet from responsibility for the world outside his poems. Later editions of Leaves of Grass are marked by the poet's deliberate repression of erotic themes in favor of a depoliticized aestheticism that views art not as a motivator of political and moral action but as an artifact embodying the soul of the genius.

Love's Legacy Susan E. Harris, 2009-10-21 Love's Legacy chronicles a lifetime of inspirational writings, poems, proverbs, and songs on a variety of universally shared human experiences. It inspires respect for the unique heritage we each have; examines the various love relationships we all encounter in our lives; and attempts to show how those relationships influence the person we have become. It encourages us to understand that our lives make a difference in the lives of those we meet and offers suggestions of how we can determine the legacy we choose to leave for future generations to observe.. At times, the author summons up a bit of a nostalgic atmosphere as she issues the challenge to recall past events that have had a profound influence on the reader. There is always the ever present reminder that each life lived affects the lives of those living today and in the future. Everyone alive has a unique history that is influenced not only by genetics, nurturing and environment; but also, by our heritage, our ancestors. This book encourages the reader to explore and respect their unique heritage. This is great conversation starter and an ideal book for family and friends to read together.

Textual Mothers/Maternal Texts Elizabeth Podnieks, Andrea O'Reilly, 2011-04-07 Textual Mothers/Maternal Texts focuses on mothers as subjects and as writers who produce auto/biography, fiction, and poetry about maternity. International contributors examine the mother without child, with child, and in her multiple identities as grandmother, mother, and daughter. The collection examines how authors use textual spaces to accept, negotiate, resist, or challenge traditional conceptions of mothering and maternal roles, and how these texts offer alternative practices and visions for mothers. Further, it illuminates how textual representations both reflect and help to define or (re)shape the realities of women and families by examining how mothering and being a mother are political, personal, and creative narratives unfolding within both the pages of a book and the spaces of a life. The range of chapters maps a shift from the daughter-centric stories that have dominated the maternal tradition to the matrilineal and matrifocal perspectives that have emerged over the last few decades as the mother's voice moved from silence to speech. Contributors make aesthetic, cultural, and political claims and critiques about mothering and motherhood, illuminating in new and diverse ways how authors and the protagonists of the texts "read" their own maternal identities as well as the maternal scripts of their families, cultures, and nations in their quest for self-knowledge, agency, and artistic expression.
