Poultry Production in Hot Climates Nuha Joseph Daghir,2008 The poultry industry continues to expand in the warm regions of the world at a much faster rate than in temperate zones. Not only can it be quickly and easily developed in these hot climates but poultry meat and eggs can serve as important sources of animal protein in those areas of the world that have protein insufficiency. Fully revised and updated, this new edition describes how the detrimental effects of heat stress can be reduced through the manipulation of housing, breeding, nutrition and management, and includes new contributions on controlled-environment housing, waterfowl, and breeding fast-growing broilers.

Poultry Production in the Tropics Angel L. Lambio,2012-12-31 This book details the raising of chickens and other poultry species (duck, turkey, quail, pigeon, goose, and ostrich) for meat and eggs.

Determinants and Implications of the Growing Scale of Livestock Farms in Four Fast-growing Developing Countries
Christopher L. Delgado, Clare A. Narrod, Marites M. Tiongco, Geraldo Sant'Ana de Camargo Barros, 2008-01-01
The rapid growth in consumer demand for livestock offers an opportunity to reduce poverty among smallholder livestock farmers in the developing world. These farmers' opportunity may be threatened, however, by competition from larger-scale farms. This report assesses the potential threat, examining various forms of livestock production in Brazil, India, the Philippines, and Thailand. Findings show that the competitiveness of smallholder farms depends on the opportunity cost of family labor and farmers' ability to overcome barriers to the acquisition of production- and market-related information and assets. Pro-poor livestock development depends, therefore, on the strengthening of institutions that will help smallholders overcome the disproportionately high transaction costs in securing quality inputs and obtaining market recognition for quality outputs. These and other findings make this report a useful guide for researchers and others concerned with the opportunities and risks of smallholder livestock farming.
