Rally on Marie Sawford, 2006

The Ultimate Guide to Rally-o Debra Eldredge, 2011 Combining elements of obedience and agility, rally-O is the fast-growing new dog sport that is sweeping the nation. Whether you're a serious or casual competitor, and no matter what your breed of dog, The Ultimate Guide to Rally-O will help you gain the skills and confidence you need to succeed!

Rally Obedience Novice Training Mary Simpson, 2018-02-19 Rally obedience, or Rally-O, combines characteristics of sports car racing, dog agility, and traditional obedience, thus creating a new and fun sport. You and your dog work as a team to navigate a course with numbered signs indicating different exercises to perform. Any dog can participate--no pedigree required! Numbered signs with descriptions and directional arrows of exercises are placed at each station. The signs instruct teams to go fast or slow, to halt (dog must sit at heel), to make turns and circles, to reverse direction, to do a sit-stay-recall, or to follow other basic obedience exercises. When an exercise is completed, the team moves to the next station. The handlers are guided by the signs alone. Novice, the first level of the three levels, is for those just getting started in the competition. All Novice exercises are performed with the dog on leash. There is a requirement of 10-15 stations to complete; no more than 5 may be stationary exercises. These demonstrate the dog's understanding of basic commands such as sit, stay, down, and come, and of heel position. Handlers may not use treats or toys in the ring, but they may do anything else to encourage their dogs at the novice level except physically touch them or make corrections with the leash. At this level they may clap their hands, talk to the dog, and pat their legs through the course. This journal is intended to help make training as enjoyable and stress-free as possible. The first page for each week is designed to cover the class itself. There is a place to record the goals for that training, what was done or learned during the class, and what you are to work on for the following week. The remaining six days allow you to determine what your goal is for that day's practice, what you actually achieve, and any questions or concerns you may wish to bring up at the next class. Also included is a course planner where you can list the information about each class: date, time, location, and so forth. There is a checklist where you can make notes on what you need to get and what to take to classes.

Advanced Rally Training Mary Simpson, 2018-02-20 In Novice Rally obedience, the handler and dog learned how to work as a team to navigate a course with numbered signs indicating different exercises to perform. Now they are ready to move to Advanced Rally. This is the second level of Rally obedience, which includes more difficult exercises throughout the course. At this level, all exercises are performed off-leash. There is a requirement of 12-17 stations with no more than seven stationary exercises. The exercises include a jump as well as calling your dog to the front of you instead of to a heel position. Again, unlimited communication from the handler to the dog is encouraged. No treats or toys are allowed. Handlers are permitted to talk, praise, encourage, clap their hands, pat their legs, or use any verbal means of encouragement. However, the handler may not touch the dog or make physical corrections. Loud or harsh commands or intimidating signals any time during the performance will be penalized. The dog and handler team moves continuously at a brisk but normal pace. The dog is to be under control at the handler's left side. There should be a sense of teamwork between the dog and handler throughout the course. The orders Are you ready? and Forward are given to the handler who has entered the ring. After the judge gives the Forward order, the team is on its own to correctly complete the entire sequence of numbered signs. All dogs and handlers begin with a perfect score of 100. A dog and handler team is awarded a qualifying score if the team retains at least 70 points at the completion of the course. This journal is intended to help make training as enjoyable and stress-free as possible. The first page for each week is designed to cover the class itself. There is a place to record the goals for that training, what was done or learned during the class, and what you are to work on for the following week. The remaining six days allow you to determine what your goal is for that day's practice, what you actually achieve, and any questions or concerns you may wish to bring up at the next class.
