The Dark Side of the Law of Attraction Robin Sacredfire,2015-03-12 Those that extensively studied the law of attraction, still wonder why it can't be applied to spiritual, loving, compassionate, religious and, basically, deserving people. But also why those that practice meditation regularly can't make the law of attraction work for them. This book provides such answers and many more, that are often too uncomfortable to discuss in public and you won't ever hear, due to the discomfort that causes in so many people hearing it. However, this dark side of the law of attraction is exactly what fills the unexplainable gap to why it doesn't work on so many individuals that seem to understand it. The law of attraction is also the law of vibration, and this vibration is interconnected with many things that build our personality and define our choices in life, namely, who we love and our perception of love, but also who we hate and our perception of rejection. We can't understand the law of attraction in full without studying the law of detachment, just like we can't understand the yin of life without knowing its yang. When we start understanding how all these factors interfere with our life, we can finally notice that it isn't our nature that changes, but this same nature that changes our reality. It is at this point that we realize that we've been manifesting everything all the time, but couldn't see it and couldn't identify it, because we were too focused in our own system of beliefs. This book provides a chance to change our results, by revealing secrets that many books about this topic were unable or too uncomfortable to reveal to the public. This knowledge represents a second chance to anyone that has ever applied the law of attraction and didn't feel it working exactly as expected.

Reclaiming the Public Avi Hay Dorfman, Alon Harel, 2024-02-29 Reclaiming the Public defines and defends the intrinsic value of “the public” that resides in our public institutions and the officials that run them. The book argues that public institutions do not simply act for us but instead speak and act in our name; i.e., they represent us. Representation requires that decisions made by public institutions or officials are consistent with the perspectives of citizens. If the decisions satisfy this requirement, these decisions are attributable to citizens, and citizens can be held responsible for them. This theory of political authority accounts for major features of our legal system, such as the non-instrumental grounds for the separation of law-making powers, the non-instrumental value of constitutions, the limits of privatization, the nature and value of public property, and the impermissibility of using artificial intelligence in setting certain policies and making certain decisions.
