Women’s Narratives of Ageing and Care Emily Jeremiah, Shirley Jordan, 2025-03-03 Care is fundamental to human survival, yet it is often overlooked, undermined, undervalued, and thought of as ‘women’s work’. Care of the old is particularly low in status and is too readily occluded. This volume asks why and how cultures of care for older people are negatively configured. It examines some of the powerful responses to relationships of intergenerational care in recent creative works by women. It thereby contributes to the contemporary imperative to transform care by investigating some of the ways in which care might be redefined and reconceptualized. Taking as its focus the representation or narrativization of care in theory, literature, visual culture, and performance, it engages with contemporary female-authored works from diverse cultural contexts, encouraging the development of comparative, cross-cultural perspectives. Narrative is key here, for it is in stories about ageing and care that the complexities and ambiguities of care relationships are made available, and that simplified ideas about them are challenged. This volume will be of interest to scholars in literary and cultural studies, gender studies, critical age studies, the medical and health humanities, and all who are interested in care.

The Last Witness Glenn Meade, 2015-02-24 When Carla Lane's husband is murdered by Serbian war criminals, she discovers that she underwent extensive therapy as a girl to suppress memories of a Bosnian genocide and a long-lost brother who may still be alive.

The Last Days Of Heaven G.J. Violet, 2012-03-30 The book cover depicts a man made up in such a fashion that it depicts a universal man. His head is strung with stars. Below, planetary orbs also situate man symbolically. The sun and moon make up his eyes. The flight of a bird create his nose. Mountains and a lake compose his lips and mouth. Clouds form his eyebrows. There is a choker around his neck with a medallion at its center. The throat is the matrix of speech. As these poems manifest my speaking, I have placed my initials therein. His chin suggest mountain ranges and shorelines. Overall, the drawing infers that all of nature is of man's image. That nature and humankind are one.
