All My Road Trip Shit Hartwell Press,2020-07-27 This All My Road Trip Shit Travel Journal is set up to make documenting your trip easy and fun. Writing down the information as you go along helps you remember your trip easier and stay with you longer.I've set up this log book in the following way:1. The first section is where you can record the Date and who you're traveling with.2. Next you'll see a section to record the Weather Conditions.3. The next section is where you can jot down where you're traveling to and from, the distance that will be, and how long it took.4. Then you'll see a Traffic section to rate how bad the traffic was.5. Next is an area to plan out your Travel Route a little more, including Stops, Time of Arrival, and Highlights/Notes. Be as detailed as possible here, and fill it out with specific moments.6. Dining Experiences is the next section, and you can write down what you ate, how much, and what restaurants you stopped at.7. The last section is Sleepover Experiences, where you can write your thoughts about where you're staying - the hotel, a friend's house, a camp site, etc.All of these sections are meant to be adaptable to many types of trips, but specifically helpful for road trips.Enjoy (and document) the journey!

The Road Trip Book Darryl Sleath, 2018-03-13 The world's superlative road trips—scenic, thrilling, and memorable—in both natural and urban settings. For anyone who has fallen under its spell, a car represents freedom and adventure. For decades, the American tradition of the road trip has been bound up with the idea of new possibilities and new horizons. This book is an indispensable guide to the most beautiful, breathtaking, extraordinary, and fun road trips the world has to offer. Complete with road trips varying in length and level of challenge, from an epic transglobal route inspired by Ewan McGregor and Charley Boorman's Long Way Round documentary series to a two-mile blast around Monaco's F1 street circuit, there is something for any adventurer. Each entry provides information about distance, start and finish points, road surfaces, must-see stop-offs, detours, and other details to plan an unforgettable trip. Entries are organized into three categories: Scenic, Adventure, and Culture. One can marvel at the views from Cape Town's scenic Chapman's Peak Drive or central California's Pacific Coast Highway, but the thrill seeker might opt for the hair-raising ride through Montenegro's coastal mountains to reach the medieval walled town of Sveti Stefan on the Adriatic. The culture category features routes inspired by film, literature, and history: re-create Thelma and Louise's heart-pounding joyride (minus the final leap), savor Japan's "Romance Road" through unspoiled small towns, or follow Jack Kerouac's path from On the Road.

In this book, it will remind every reader that the road has both its beauty and imperfections, but it's definitely worth the ride.

Road Trip R. L. Merrill, 2016-02-13

Road Trip USA. , 2012

Road Trip! Ross Robbins, 2013-03-09 A friend of mine asked me, What kind of idiot would drive a thousand miles to drive a thousand miles, to drive a thousand miles home? The answer, apparently, is one like me. Exactly like me, in fact. That is the spirit that launched most of the adventures in this book. Road Trip! captures the author's quest for new places to see in old cars that are not quite suited for the task. In most cases, the spirit was way in front of the planning. It also accurately depicts the typical thorough thought process that precedes a departure. There is nothing so liberating yet useless as a Road Trip. A Road Trip is one with no purpose other than the going. If one is moving to a new job or going off to college or to a new home, it is not a Road Trip; it has a purpose. In order to be a real Road Trip, the trip itself must be the purpose...and, just to be clear, driving an old car home after buying it, rather than shipping it, cannot be construed as a purpose- rather it is a clear choice. It is a choice to make a Road Trip. Welcome to some of Ross' favorite Road Trips!
