Glacier Power: How do Glaciers Move? - NASA Earthdata 5 days ago · A glacier is a large accumulation of many years of snow, transformed into ice. This solid crystalline material deforms (changes) and moves. Glaciers, also known as “rivers of ice,” actually flow. Gravity is the cause of glacier motion; the ice slowly flows and deforms (changes) in response to gravity. A glacier molds itself to the land and also molds the land as it ... StarChild: Galaxies - NASA A galaxy is a cluster of stars, dust, and gas which is held together by gravity. Galaxies are scattered throughout the universe and they vary greatly in size. A galaxy may be alone or it may be in a large group of galaxies called a "supercluster". Galaxies are classified by scientists according to their shape and appearance. An irregular galaxy has an undefined shape and is full of young stars ... How do we know that dark matter exists? - NASA The cluster does not behave as scientists would expect it to if only the visible matter is generating the gravity present in the cluster. 'Dark matter' theory suggests that a huge amount of dark (invisible to direct observation) matter, interacting gravitationally with the normal, visible matter in the universe, exists. Where did the Moon come from? - NASA The Moon's low density (3.3 g/cc) shows that it does not have a substantial iron core like the Earth does. Moon rocks contain few volatile substances (e.g. water), which implies extra baking of the lunar surface relative to that of Earth. The relative abundance of oxygen isotopes on Earth and on the Moon are identical, which suggests that the ... What is gravity? - NASA Newton's "law" of gravity is a mathematical description of the way bodies are observed to attract one another, based on many scientific experiments and observations. The gravitational equation says that the force of gravity is proportional to the product of the two masses ( $m_1$  and  $m_2$ ), and inversely proportional to the square of the distance ( $r$ ) between their centers of mass. Mathematically ... Matter in Motion: Earth's Changing Gravity - NASA Earthdata Dec 28, 2020 · A new satellite mission sheds light on Earth's gravity field and provides clues about changing sea levels. Getting at Groundwater with Gravity - NASA Earthdata Dec 28, 2020 · NASA's twin Gravity Recovery and Climate Experiment (GRACE) satellites can detect groundwater by measuring subtle variations in Earth's gravity. This image shows the world's average annual cycle of water storage on land, computed from four years of GRACE gravity data. Colors indicate how much groundwater comes and goes, each year, in various regions; red indicates high levels of annual ... Gravity Recovery and Climate Experiment | NASA Earthdata The NASA/German Space Agency (DLR) Gravity Recovery and Climate Experiment/GRACE Follow-on (GRACE and GRACE-FO) platform consists of two identical satellites that act in unison as the primary instrument. The two satellites comprising each mission orbit one behind the other in the same orbital plane at an approximate distance between the two satellites of 220 km (137 miles). As the satellite ... StarChild: Glossary - NASA See Gravity GRAVITY The force of attraction between two objects which is influenced by the mass of the two objects and the distance between the two objects. GYROSCOPE A heavy wheel or disk mounted so that its axis can turn freely in one or more directions. A spinning gyroscope tends to resist change in the direction of its axis. H HABITAT Gravity/Gravitational Field - NASA Earthdata Aug 14, 2025 · Gravity is the field around physical bodies, such as planets, that draws objects toward its center. Earth's gravitational field can be measured by orbiting satellites that can detect changes to it. These variations are related to change or transportation of mass, which can provide information on ocean circulation, glacial melt, droughts, or geodesy. NASA's Gravity Recovery And ...
